As interpreted by the F.S.C.C. it may purchase canned sea food under existing law. It may purchase sea food when not canned. To cure this situation, which he regards as arbitrary, Senator Harrison is seeking to amend the act so that a surplus of canned oysters held on the Gulf Coast may be distributed through federal, state and private relief channels.

JAP VICTORY DANGEROUS.

THE Japanese military machine continues to achieve strategic victories but the embittered Chinese withdraw deeper into the recesses of their country and turn a deaf ear to talk of peace.

Premier Konoye, it is reported, has advised Japanese leaders that the failure to bring China to terms has created an increasingly grave situation, forcing the Japanese government to resort to another course of a serious nature. So far, explanation of his remarks has not been offered.

After six months of fighting the Japanese army is busily engaged on extended fronts and the "incident" threatens to become a disaster. The entire Japanese economic and social setup demanded a quick decision but a long contest seems assured and an imperial conference, the first in twenty-four years, is called to chart the course of the island empire.

Already the economic effects of the war have been profound in Japan. The financial strain of prolonged fighting may prove too much. No one knows how long the Chinese will last but if they can keep fighting for as much as two years they may bring about the downfall of their enemy.

Japan, proudly determined to rule Asia, may be so weakened by the guerilla warfare of the Chinese that she will be unable to resist the imposition of terms by western nations when the settlement is made. In fact, even now, the future of Japan depends upon the tolerance of Great Britain and the United States. These two nations, by using economic weapons, could probably wreck the Japanese program and impoverish the Japanese people.

The fact that we are beginning to hear about contracts mailed out to baseball players is a sign that Spring is not very far away.

There are two proposed resolutions before the Mississippi legislature concerning adjournment. One bears tentative date February 19, the other 22nd. Why not adopt the former.

HELP STAMP OUT INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

THE nation will not only pay tribute to President Roosevelt on Saturday of this week, by observing his birthday with a series of nation-wide observances in various forms of entertainment, but will assist a cause well worthy of everybody's attention and assistance, regardless how small one may contribute.

The object is well known, to establish a fund whereby a permanent foundation may be realized for the study of a method that will stamp out the disease of infantile paralysis. If not that, at least, a method whereby it may be taken under control and a serum discovered that will stay the horrible and life-long effects from an attack. We aim to do all the good possible, to contribute all we can to the alleviation of suffering humanity and to stamp out all invasions of insidious disease. Here is a chance to do something in a small way that will result in unbound good in a big way.

The President's Ball for Hancock county will take place in Bay St. Louis this Saturday night. Many will attend. Many will contribute their mite in cash. A dollar or more will mean much in the aggregate in waging war on a disease that ravages. Remittances to The Sea Coast Echo will reach the proper channel.

Apparently, in the absence of anything else to do, a bill has been introduced in the lower house of the Mississippi legislature to officially declare the magnolia the State tree. It appears to the general mind this was settled long ago by unanimous vote of the school children. Secretary Walker Wood, ever interested in all appertains to the State in general, might give considerable information on the subject.

Opposition is lodged against the bill pending in the Mississippi Legislature to establish a department of labor. This from Jackson: "The Natchez Chamber of Commerce has submitted to the legislature a protest declaring that the pending bill to create a department of labor is unfair and will prevent the bringing of new industries to Mississippi. From Natchez comes word that the city is likely to lose a promised $2,000,000 rubber tire industry in event the measure is enacted as at present written."

This is time of the season the magazine subscription racket will be worked to a farewell. Young women of handsome form and face, with a variety of publications under arm, will soon be making way into stores, shops and business offices, offering three or more publications for the price of one. The offer, of course, is spurious. And the excuse is to raise sufficient money to finance a course through college. This racket is so old and threadbare it should fail. But under new guise it still prevails and obtains in some places. Beware of such solicitors. Pay no money down. The country is honeycombed with imposters.

The growing generation of boys and girls, despite all the knocks, is a fine promise for the future years.

What every community needs is broad-visioned minds above petty jealousies and personal spleens.

A BETTER PLACE IN WHICH TO LIVE.

THERE is a steady demand for new and modernly-appointed houses in this section, dwellings of a type that would afford in moderate manner necessary conveniences and rent for reasonable figures. There seems to be a field for many dwellings of this type, attractive and convenient; a demand that would justify the building of such structures now that there has been appreciable reduction in taxes.

And speaking of reduction in taxes that is bound to come with the payment of bonds that are falling due. It is well known the Coast has met the demand for public improvement and that over a period of years that in number is comparatively short. With the gradual discharge of such obligations there is less demand for accumulated funds with which to pay off and the tax exaction will gradually diminish.

Public officials are as anxious to reduce taxes as people who pay. High taxes at no stage is desirable and no one is desirous of the burden—only when necessity demands and, even though postponed indefinitely, ultimately compels.

It is easy to see a gradual decrease in taxes. Even the State is thus inclined and the chief executive is exerting every effort to dispense with taxes as far as possible. And local officials are so inclined and equally as eager to cut down.

There is a great future for this section and it will be realized all the quicker with the constant diminishing of tax demand.

BRIGHT SEASON FOR COAST.

WITH the advent of better weather and the approach of Spring not far in the distance the week-end number of visitors to the Gulf Coast increases. This was noted last week, many visitors to Bay-Waveland seeking recreation and relaxation.

Owners of summer homes in Waveland came out in large numbers and were reluctant to return to the big city. The lure of the Gulf Coast is ever-appealing and more so with the days of sunshine and call of the open.

There is again a renewed activity in demand for realty, sales and rentals, according to report. From indications, it is stated by knowing source the number of visitors to this section of the Coast this spring and summer will exceed that of other years. And there is every reason to so believe. No one doubts. All indications point to a most active season.

Two letters from different sources come from New Orleans, seeking information for accommodations for the Easter weekend in Bay-Waveland. This is rather early—unusually early and bespeaks much that is of significance.

Bay St. Louis and Waveland are the prime favorites for the collegiate contingent seeking recreation after the long Lenten spell and school work. The exodus for Easter is bound coastward and, if indications mean anything, will show increase.

Students and their chaperones are fond of this section. They seem to never tire of coming each consecutive year and it might well be said this section is as glad to welcome the number as the boys and girls are happy to visit.

MANY BENEFITS FOR THE COAST.

ONE thing is certain regarding the Mississippi legislature now in session. It will not adjourn until proper and full cognizance is taken of Gov. White's recommendation for exemption of homesteads from all taxes.

A proper committee named and preliminary plans will be formulated in vacation due deliberation will be given the subject and construction plan evolved. Then, as he has stated, the Governor, if necessary, will call the legislature in extraordinary session.

As to the benefits resulting from such legislation, there is considerable speculation to the inestimable benefit to result therefrom, particularly for this Gulf Coast section of the State.

And we believe the Coast, since it is an ideal place in which to live, will attract the monied class who may live in localities of their own choice.

But another benefit to the Coast not to be overlooked is to result from the highway bill that is before the legislature and which the Governor will sign. Since the Coast is the acknowledged paradise of tourists and others who travel, such highways as Mississippi will finally possess will prove an added means of material improvement. Thousands, who otherwise would not, will henceforth travel the Mississippi way southward and, even though they may be going elsewhere, will tarry a while in Eden's own coast country.

There is an immediate future for this section, the like of which has never been dreamed of.

THE FASTING DEAN.

IT IS little or none of our business what the Rev. Israel Harding Noe, of Memphis, Tenn., eats, or whether the Episcopal clergymen continues the absolute fast that he expects will attest spiritual perfection and immortality.

The 46-year-old cleric lived on oranges and cashew nuts in 1936; on oranges alone in 1937 and, beginning January first, has wafer three times weekly. While he puts ice cube into his mouth to relieve the dryness of his throat, it is said, he expels the water from his mouth when the ice has melted.

He is of the opinion that he is entering a "new higher plane of spiritual life," taking food from "the Fathers' life within." Moreover, he has "worked it out potentially" and knows that he can "experience it."

So what? Simply this, don't be surprised to hear that the worthy man has entered the spiritual realm, through the door of natural death.

Already, according to press reports, this week, he has collapsed and unconscious, taken to a hospital where he was fed by force. Should he recover, as is expected, he should be wiser by having learned a lesson that man cannot subsist without nourishing the body, regardless of the spiritual.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING OF MEN AND MATTERS IN EDITORIAL EXPRESSION

PAIN IN THE NECK.
(Neshoba Co. Democrat)

THE State Supreme Court has ruled that merchants can be compelled to collect sales tax tokens.

We express no criticism of the decision itself, but with the law as written.

It is just another instance of more trouble for business.

It means an added burden of collection and of reporting.

The merchant gets nothing out of it except a lot of trouble and expense.

The method of collection—adding the sales tax to the price of the goods—seems an unnecessary requirement of the law.

Let it be added into the price of the merchandise like all other taxes.

Business is today enthralled with taxes, reports and government supervision as never before.

It is a constant pain-in-the-neck.

There are reports and forms of every sort and character.

There are pink forms, blue forms, white forms and others.

It has reached the place where a man can hardly call his business his own.

It belongs for the most part to the tax collector.

WE place the policeman at the crossing to keep our children safe on their way to and from school. We spend much time and thought to preserve their health, to protect them from physical and moral contagion, to make their lives wholesome and normal.

Let us not forget the protection they can receive from the well-built savings account which can provide them with advantages they need and be ready in emergencies.

AN ARMY FOR SERVICE

SOUTHERN BELL telephone employees are constantly training to keep pace with a changing business. They work individually yet as cooperative parts of an organization, knit together by loyalty to the service. In these respects they are like a vast army, an army for public service.

Their ranks numbered some 20,500 men and women at the end of 1937, growing by 1,600 over 1936. Their payroll was four million dollars higher than for the previous year, reaching close to $26,000,000, most of which was spent in their home communities.

During the year, this army not only maintained the telephone "plant" for your use, but constructed over $27,500,000 worth of new facilities to meet the increased demand for service. At the end of the year, there was about $235 invested in your telephone "plant" per telephone.

An average of 8.6 local calls per day per telephone were handled in 1937, or nine million calls a day. In addition, some 43,800,000 toll and long distance calls were completed in 1937.

A gain in telephone calls in 1937 brought the Southern Bell Company's total to 1,690,000 by the end of the year.

Rates increased by about $575,000, mounting to $7,900,000 paid to Federal, State and Municipal governments in 1937.

Important figures, these. But more important to telephone users is the army for service, whose sole aim is to give the "most telephone service and the best, at the lowest possible cost consistent with the financial safety of the business."

CHILD MARVEL WITH MARINE SHOW

A limbless wonder, so talented in skilled arts that Robert Ripley has featured her in his Believe-It-Or-Not cartoon, is little Frieda Pushkin. The 17-year-old girl, able to write, crochet, and do other normal tasks without the aid of arms or legs, is one of the feature attractions with the Mammoth Hippodrome, which will exhibit in Gulfport for three days, only, starting Monday, January 31st.

She will demonstrate to the visitors of the exhibit, the feats that amazed the thousands of spectators who saw her at the Great Lakes Exposition at Cleveland, Ohio, where she appeared in the Ripley Odditorium last summer.

She learned to crochet and sew by holding slender, dangerous needles in her mouth. Nineteen-year-old sister, Irma, who travels with her, says, "I should be ashamed of myself; I can't even do that."

Frieda doesn't stop there. She learned to write well and actually won a prize for penmanship. Her ambition is to prepare herself to become a missionary.

The exhibition, "dry-land," ship will be located near the union passenger station on L.C. Railroad tracks and will be open to the public from 12 o'clock noon until 10 p.m. daily.

NATIVE BAY SAINT LOUIS HONORED ON OCCASION 71 BIRTHDAY

John D. Caldwell, Thirty-Four Years With Ashville Gas Company Tended Surprise Party — In Book-Keeping Dept.

John D. Caldwell, well remembered by older citizens perhaps better as "Boy" Caldwell recently celebrated his 71st birthday, that is, the company he has been with for many years celebrated it for him with a "surprise party."

"Boy" Caldwell is a native of Bay St. Louis, and in his days as a local resident there was no young man more popular—with young and old alike. And the many who remember him, he is still popularly remembered.

When a young man he journeyed to Asheville, N. C., where he became affiliated with the Public Utilities Company, and has ever been connected with that concern, located in the book-keeping department of that company. The writer has visited Mr. Caldwell and his family from time to time in recent years and there is no man more efficient and capable than he. Years mean nothing to him, because his efficiency is ever at high standard and his loyalty and willingness is ever uppermost.

From the Asheville "Spotlight," we copy the following which originally carried Mr. Caldwell's picture. The Echo quotes:

"This month we are especially interested in John D. Caldwell, book-keeping department, because—

"October 8, 1937, marked his seventy-first birthday; and because October 15, 1937, marked his thirty-fourth year with the company.

"John came with the company October 15, 1903, as first Gas Plant Superintendent, at the plant on Valley Street. When the Avery Street Gas Plant was completed, he took up his duties as superintendent there, and when the Gas plant was sold to the Ashville Gas Company, he became connected with the Book-keeping Department in Ashville, where he is now located.

"A surprise party marked Mr. Caldwell's 71st birthday.

"John's hobby is photography, and for 45 years he has used the same camera and the same lens. When we tell you that he is the man who took the 'bathing girls' and the more recent 'feet to match feet' pictures, we think you will agree with us that his camera and lens are good for another 45 years!"

"We are happy to congratulate you, Mr. Caldwell, on your birthday and on your years of service."

The Gulfport Central Labor Union endorsed Governor White's plan for "no taxes on homes" and instructed Secretary R. L. Reed to send copies of the resolution to the governor, Sen. George R. Smith, and Rep. R. O. Bickerstaff. The union also favors the elimination of poll taxes by the present legislature.

FORMER N. O. CHIEF OF POLICE DIES AT WAVELAND HOME

End Came Unexpectedly Saturday Morning After Ten-Day Illness—Funeral At N. O. Monday Afternoon—Aged 56.

Funeral services for Théodore A. Ray, former superintendent of the New Orleans police department, was held at 2 p.m. at the funeral home of Albert E. Briere and Son, Inc., Monday followed by religious rites at St. Mathias Church and interment in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Ray, who resigned as superintendent of police in May, 1930, died of heart attack at his summer home in Waveland, Saturday morning after an illness of about ten days. He was 56 years old and first joined the police department in 1905, assuming the duties of superintendent on December 31, 1928.

Mr. Ray is survived by his widow, four sons, Theodore, Jr., Frederick, Donald and Thomas Ray; three daughters, Miss Anna Ray, Mrs. Murray Vitter and Mrs. Ethel Neltzschman; one brother, Walter Ray, and four sisters, Mrs. Clara McDonald, Mrs. Leonce Hebert and Mrs. William Seelhousen, all of New Orleans, and Mrs. Dan Carroll of Los Angeles, Cal.

Mr. Ray was equally as well known in Bay St. Louis as in Waveland. Some years ago he purchased a lot in Waveland Terrace, after retiring from his post as chief of the police force, and built a home for his family thereon. He spent most of his time in Waveland, practically living there the year round, until the end came, which news was a shock to all who knew him. He was a booster for Waveland and this section of the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Suter, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Gore and grandson, Ralph Gore, from Chagrin Falls, Ohio, are visitors with Capt. J. W. Peairs. They are all prominent business men in their native city. Mrs. Parker is Capt. Peairs sister.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kent, who reside in New Orleans and are well known, came out for the week-end and spent the time at their Waveland summer home which they enjoy all the year, Mr. Kent says, by frequently visiting during the winter months in addition to spending the long summer.

Blue skies, sunshiny days and balmy clime is all the more real.

Members of the congregation of the First Methodist church are busy in various ways, under auspices of different group of workers, raising funds to defray cost of a new roof on the church, handsome structure corner Main and Second streets. The various groups are active and their labors will be rewarded in the early realization of the plan and goal.

Mrs. Theodore Steckman, the former Miss Edris Vairin, returned to her home in New Orleans Saturday afternoon, after spending three weeks in Bay St. Louis, assisting in the office of the clerk of the court, during the period of chancery court session, a position which she formerly held with Clerk A. G. Favre with unusual ability and dispatch.

After a hard attack of the flu, which kept him home a week, Representative Lucien M. Gex returned to Jackson Monday to resume his duties in the salons. He is of the opinion this session will not be a long-winded one and that little or no time will be wasted. Members of both houses are anxious to attend to the State's business and best interest of the people and to return to their respective homes. There is no politics in this session, that is, no campaign is at hand and business is uppermost in the majority of the minds of the lawmakers.
